“The best part about my relationship with Jill is that she’s not only my representative, she’s become a big part of my family. Having someone you can trust, and someone who will have your back at all times is so important in the National Football League. With Jill I never had any doubt she was always doing what was best for me. She helped me transition from the NFL into the next phase of my life and that was extremely helpful.”

Stephen Spach (Played 7 years in NFL)
Retired NFL Player
Successful Financial Advisor

“Jill is a trusted advisor and confidant. She’s extremely intelligent and has always represented her clients with the upmost care and professionalism.”

Sandy Barbour
VP of Intercollegiate Athletics
Penn State University

“I wouldn’t have been able to make the jump from an assistant coach at South Dakota to the NFL without Jill. She’s smart, tough and everyone in the NFL respects her.”

Marquice Williams
Special Teams Coordinator
Atlanta Falcons

PROTECTION • ADVOCACY • TRUST

“I owe a lot to Jill. She’s helped me through good times and bad. She’s been there for my family and provides support to my mom, my wife and my kids in addition to me. We make a great team.”

Marlon Moore
(Played 8 years in NFL)

“Born to be a Sports Agent”

This book is a culmination of my three decades (wow, that sounds like a long time) of being a sports agent. It’s not that I woke up one day and decided to become a sports agent. My entire life has been encased in football, and I’m happy it turned out that way. I feel like I’ve actually lived three lives; one as a coach’s kid, one as a coach’s wife, and one as a sports agent, but, really, all three have been and continue to be a massive part of who I am as a human being.

Representation without taxation must remain central in the ever-changing and evolving world of athletics, both amateur and pro. Sports professionals need fair representation without it costing ridiculous sums of money and that’s why I stand for protection, advocacy, and trust.
